THE CWNA CONVENTION

(A. Balloch)
Travelling from each of the Dominion's nine provinces in addition to Newfoundland, weekly editors, publishers and their wives gathered in record numbers at the celebrated Canadian Pacific Empress hotel in Victoria where they attended the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association's annual convention.

The success of these annual gatherings is to a very large extent made possible by the co-operation of the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways who place the facilities of their respective companies at the disposal of the Association members who are thus enabled to attend the convention which is held in a widely separated city throughout the Dominion each year.

The writer, his partner Tom Holstead, and Roddy McLeod, of the Blairmore Graphic, set out for the capital city of British Columbia bright and early on Monday morning, Sept. 22. After a few hours sleep in our respective berths we rose to find our shoes shining and a porter greeting us with "good morning, gentlemen!" Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hammond, the former publisher of the Pincher Creek Echo, were met in the dining room and also enroute to Victoria. Other publishers were met along the route and the various aspects of publishing a newspaper were soon being keenly debated.

Arriving at 10:05 a.m. Tuesday morning at Vancouver C.P.R. we were only twenty five minutes away from the depot to the city. The Princess Charlotte lay at anchor and about ready to sail. It was on the Princess that weekly newsmen from every province were met and this beautiful little ship really and truly had a passenger list that contained the "Who's Who" in the weekly newspaper world.

The weather was perfect despite a slight haze. The ship was prepared in the morning. A warm sun shone down on the sea trip from coast to coast. To one who is enjoying his first sea trip from Vancouver to Victoria it is an experience which will long live in his memory. The ship passing along the shores of Stanley Park, to sail underneath the scenic Lions Gate bridge, to see the fleet of small fishing craft busy at work as one clears the shore line. An added thrill was given to the newspaper party with the appearance of a school of porpoise, at least we think they were, which cut through the waves like sharks. Some people honestly thought they were sharks but their black bodies made us believe they were porpoises.

After a spell of open water a series of large and small islands are encountered and the ship approaches a magnificent picture as the boat skirted around them and kept in deep water. Numerous other ships, large and small were encountered going to and from Victoria thus adding to the excitement of the trip. In mid-afternoon Victoria was reached, the handsome legislative building on one side of the pier and the beautiful and stately Empress Hotel on the other.

The convention party made a bee line for the Empress and in a matter of minutes a line reaching from the registration desk to the door appeared as if by magic. The hotel staff, however, was not caught short and since all reservations had been made weeks before each newsmen's name was neatly typed on his registration card and the several hundred new guests were catered to in a minimum of time and effort. Being canny souls the three musketeers had carried their luggage to the hotel and saw where a hotel boy laid them out on the floor. Our good friend H. T. Halliwell was not so careful and allowed his baggage to be sent over from the boat to the hotel. It took him about an hour to seek it out and lay claim to it.

The Empress has 535 rooms, or a figure in that vicinity, and after stepping off the elevator it required a few minutes walk before we finally arrived at our room, which, by the way looked right into a government liquor store which provided the right kind of scenery for a convention.

Since the afternoon of arrival was given over to resting or enjoying oneself as one saw fit it was with a great deal of pleasure when we felt a tap on the shoulder to turn around and see the smiling faces of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rip-

... who will visit the Pass next week, Oct. 6 to 10. He will be pleased to interview anyone having constituency problems. It is expected he will hold several public meetings while in the Pass.

pon. Minutes later we were in their car and touring the city. Bright and early Wednesday morning we were in the convention hall listening to donation of floors given a report on their stewardship during the past year. That afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Rippon were again on the job and took the three Pass newsmen on a trip along the famous Mahabak highway. The scenery from this highway is really beautiful and a stop was made to look out on the water with the banks heavily clad in green forest. We travelled down to the Mill Bay ferry where we took the ferry back to Victoria. This again was a most pleasant experience.

The luncheon that noon was given the Association members by the city of Victoria with Mayor Percy George the principal speaker. After welcoming the members to the capital city, Mayor George, later aided by one of his aldermen, launched forth in a strong bid to have industry establish itself on the island. The island has coal deposits and a wealth of mature timber stands plus a climate which makes second to none and it would appear that this city of Victoria is taking the lead in enticing industry to come over to the island and develop it in much greater degree than at present.

The Government of British Columbia was host to the members at supper and sponsored a banquet which will long be remembered by those present. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rippon were the guests of Mr. Holstead at the banquet and enjoyed themselves greatly. The Hon. Kenney, Minister of Mines and Forestry, was guest speaker with Hon. John Hart, premier, as chairman.

Premier Hart in a brief address welcomed the newsmen and their wives to British Columbia, and voiced the wish that the business sessions would be fruitful. Hon. Kenney chose as his subject the Pulp and paper industry which ranks among British Columbia's chief exports.

The men covering the government's dinner had an exceptionally lovely flower picture. Presiding the descriptive matter regarding the picture, Mrs. Rippon drew our attention to the fact that the artist, Emily Sarasin, had once visited Coleman. We made a mental note on our return home and make enquiry regarding Miss Sarasin. We find that the artist arrived in Coleman in 1942 and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Allen for a short period. Miss Dunlop has in her possession a number of Miss Sarasin's work and they are indeed beautiful. She only paints flowers. She began her artistic career in June, 1932, when H. M. Queen Mary purchased her first exhibited flower painting. Vancouver is apparently alert to her talents for many of her exhibitions were used to raise money for war charities.

Visiting our room that evening were Mr. and Mrs. Rippon, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Halliwell and their guest Mrs. Swinerton, of Macleod, Don. Gilis, son of Mrs. Gilis of the Blairmore town office, and Gus Howe, formerly of the Canadian Legion at Blairmore.

Mr. Howe along with Mrs. Howe is managing a small hotel nearby the Empress. Mr. Gilis is with the C. P. R. express office in Victoria. Both men find life on the island quite enjoyable and it was quite late before they stopped discussing Blairmore and old Pass friends.

On Thursday the C. B. C. Farm Broadcast was made from the convention dining room. Of interest to us was the fact that Jimmy Johnson, brother of Coleman's Mrs. W. Purvis and Bill Johnson, was a member of the cast and his wife took the leading feminine role. We did not discover this fact until we arrived back in Vancouver at the week-end and met Mr. Jack Johnson, Jimmy's father, in Stanley Park.

On Thursday evening George Pattinson phoned our room to make arrangements for taking us for an outing the following day. The Friday schedule had been made however and we had to be content with a telephone conversation rather than on a more intimate basis. Mr. and Mrs. Pattinson had taken Mr. and Mrs. Halliwell around the city and on Saturday morning took them to Duncan to visit Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Barnes.

Highlights of the third day over and above the business sessions which saw R. A. Gilis, of the Lechoute (Quebec) Watchman elected Dominion president, was the trip to Esquimalt where the entire gathering was the guest of the Royal Canadian Navy and a tour of the big battleship "Ontario" was made along with a sail on the barge. The "Ontario" is the ship on which Bill Halliwell, Tony Coddle and Doug Jenkins sailed from Belfast, where she was built, to Hong Kong in the closing weeks of the Pacific war.

The writer missed this trip since he was enroute to Vancouver that afternoon to spend the week-end in the city.

In Victoria, that evening Messrs. Holstead and McLeod, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Al. Lonsbury and spent a few hours talking over old times and answering questions about this one and that one.

That evening the B.C. legislative buildings were lit up in all their beauty for the admiration of the convention party, a gesture which was very much appreciated.

This is the first time that the writer or his companions have ever attended a national convention and it can be truly stated that it really was a thrilling experience. Everyone was so kind and seemed to go out of their way to make conditions pleasant and Victoria has made a host of new friends and admirers. Miss Kathleen Walker left on Tuesday morning for Calgary where she will train for a nurse at the General Hospital.

Mr. Jack McInnes underwent a major operation last week in the local hospital and is progressing favorably. It is expected she will be confined to bed for another week.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY— MUSIC SO SWEET

By MATTHEW F. CHRISTOPHER

HE noticed it now as they walked across the green grass that threw back the sunlight like tiny, jutting points of triangles. And it hurt him to notice it—hurt him as if it were a physical wound.

"Yes, it's foolish," he said. He said it low, but his voice seemed to possess a quality that carried it far beyond the green hill. And in the stillness he could still hear it.

"Maybe, it is," she said. "I can feel it, too, when I'm home." She gave a slight lift of her slender shoulders. "It seems that the atmosphere just closes around me. Sometimes I've found myself breathless, as if I were tired."

He took her hand, and he felt her fingers intertwine with his, squeezing lightly, holding back the trembling emotion he now sensed himself. He realized solemnly how much a part of this feeling he shared, too, as if her belonged with it, and it with him.

"Maybe if your father felt any different," he suggested. The idea awoke a faint memory, and he stared at her, watching, waiting for her reaction.

"Yes," she said thoughtfully. "Father could do plenty to help. But when he's not working, he sits by the window, as he's sitting now, gazing out at the trees and the birds and not seeing them. Yes, Father could help, all right."

"Have you talked with him?" "Yes. But I might as well talk to the wall. He just stares at me, not listening."

"Have you played any music, since?"

"No," and she looked up at him, the sun painting a soft halo round her coppery hair, putting in the diamond that in the middle of her blue eyes. "Neither one of us have touched anything since Mother died."

She looked away. "Eight months. Yet it seems like yesterday when she used to sit at the piano, touching those ivory keys with her white, slender fingers."

They stopped for a moment both looking grimly into the distance. Then they left the sticky, tar-covered road and walked down the brief incline to the empty, rust-colored cottage. They crossed the short-clipped lawn, and went and stood on the bank beside the pool.

"I always come here," she said. "Sometimes to swim, but usually to get away. It's so peaceful, and the water is so beautiful."

"But it isn't permanent," he said, seriously. "It's just for a little while. Then you're back into it. Anybody, what about him? What about your father? Does he come here?"

He copper hair melted over one shoulder as she shook her head slightly and looked away. "Never," she said. "He just stays home, and sits."

He thought a moment, and he wondered if this feeling could be real, like stone in real, or if it could be lifted, like a film, and the unchanged real shown beneath. It had to be one or the other, and he was afraid to learn which. Because no matter which it would be, he knew he'd remain a part of it.

"Let's go back," he said. "I'm going home, and you're going with me."

She looked at him. Her blue eyes shone sadly, the thin line a shadow between her eyebrows. "Earnie, I can't."

He took her hand, gently. "I'll come back," he said. "Don't worry."

He felt her nearness against him in the car. She seemed so small, so helpless. He pressed the ball of her shoulder to him with his free hand, and rested his cheek against her hair, feeling of its softness as if it were a caressing whisper.

He realized then, that she was crying, and he didn't say anything.

He stopped the car in front of his home. "I'll be right back," he said.

He went in, came out with a large, curved, black case, placed it on the rear seat, and started back to her house.

"Earnie," she said, "do you think he's voice faltered, as if the wheel had fallen over a ledge?"

He lowered his hand from the wheel, gripped hers hopefully, reassuringly. "Don't ask me," he said. "And don't think, either. Don't think of anything, just me—if you think that'll help."

He felt the pressure returned, and smiled down at her. Her blue eyes shone like twin moons. Her curved lips answered his challenge. "I'll always be yours," she murmured. "It always helps."

In front of her house again, they got out, and he took the big, black case out of the car. He led her to the door, and held it open for her, while he entered. He crossed slowly through the kitchen, then stepped into the living room, and stopped.

He smiled. It was hard to, but he did, and from his chair across the room, near the wide window where he always sat, Bea's father smiled back.

"I brought my guitar," Earnie said. The older man removed his pipe from his mouth, blew out a smudge that formed a blue film before him. As if to hide the expression on his face, thought Earnie.

"You did?" he said. "It's been a long time." "Yes," Earnie said. "It has. You don't mind, do you?" The older man shook his head. "No. I don't mind. Go ahead."

You won't walk off? thought Earnie. You won't go outside? You won't get away, just so you won't listen, will you?

"Bea—the piano, will you, please?" he said. She stared at him for a moment, and then at her father. He watched her, reading her like a book. And then she turned and sat on the long, black seat, and touched her rose-tipped fingers on the ivory keys.

"Strike C chord," he said. She struck the keys. A soft, resonant sound splashed out, like cool water and sprinkled around the quiet room. He struck the guitar strings.

The smooth, whispering notes blended with the piano's. He touched a string here and there and suddenly he was ready.

"Play something," he said, smiling. She started to play, and he leaped in with the chords, and music, for the first time in so long, drifted in sweet, lovely strains through the house, atomizing the air with his honeyed fragrance, air that had long been stagnant and dry.

Earnie heard a soft sound behind him, glanced over his shoulder and caught a glimpse of Bea's father's back as he strode alone out of the room. A tight knot suddenly formed inside him, and he turned back and looked at Bea.

She didn't see his gaze. Her eyes, her mind, were absorbed in the music.

And then, from the other room came a high, thin, sustaining note. The silvery, melodious strains of a violin.

The two near the piano turned, and they watched him enter the room, his elbow held high, pulling the bow across the strings, while he watched it with his eyes, as if music was something you should see and he was seeing it—and smiling at it at the same time.

MODERN HARVESTING IN MOTION PICTURES—The experiences of a Canadian combine crew harvesting grain in the U.S.A. are to be featured in a full length color motion picture. Star of the picture is Jack Sutherland, of Hanna, Alta. It was his combine crew, with two machines and eight helpers, that was accompanied by Director Roger Morin of the National Film Board all the way to Texas and back to the Sutherland farm at Hanna. The caravan with trucks, trailers, bunkhouses and combines left Hanna on May 26th and arrived back in Calgary September 3. In the meantime, they had covered 11,000 miles, cut wheat in Texas, Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota and North Dakota. The picture shown above was taken during the harvest season last year and shows the Sutherland combine and crew in action after harvesting 710 acres.

The harvesters' families came into Calgary from Hanna to welcome the combine crews returning from the United States.

Can Be Fined For "Grandmother's Funeral" Excuse

REGINA—Remember the time you took the day off to go to your "grandmother's funeral" and spent it at the ball game... or was it fishing?

But you didn't know you could be fined as much as $30 and tossed into jail for a month for it.

Under the Masters and Servants Act you can, and it's still in Saskatchewan's statute books. What's more, the act is paralleled by statutes in Alberta, Quebec, Prince Edward Island, and the Yukon. That leaves only five provinces and the Northwest Territories where you can get away with it.

The act has been a Saskatchewan statute for 40 years—long enough for provincial Labor Minister C. O. Williams to consider it "medieval and offensive." He plans to streamline it, probably at the next session of the legislature, he said.

The act provides in effect that an employer may take criminal action against an employer for minor breaches of contract—drunkenness; staying off work without leave; neglecting to carry out duties or orders; or leaving the job without the consent of the employer, proper excuse, or before the end of the proper term.

Few employers now invoke the legislation, perhaps because labor is scarce; but it's still valid.

Shooting Safety

Here are the 10 commandments for shooting safety:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with action open, into your automobile, camp or home.
3. Be sure the barrel and action are always clear of obstructions.
4. Always carry your gun so you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not wish to shoot.
7. Never leave a gun unattended unless you first unload it.
8. Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.
9. Never shoot at a flat surface or the surface of the water.
10. Do not mix gunpowder, alcohol and gasoline.

Radio Crime Programs For Adults Only

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.—The National Broadcasting Company announced it would not broadcast detective, crime or mystery programs before 9:30 p.m. (New York time) beginning Jan. 1.

The action was taken, NBC said, "in order to further reduce the exposure of juvenile and adolescent minds to crime suggestions."

An NBC spokesman in New York said that the action would not involve the banning of any current programs but was intended merely to formulate a code for the future.

Fats and oils are an indispensable part of the human diet.

May Raise U.S. Tourists' Quota of Goods

Bill May Permit Americans
To Take Back Up
To $500 Worth

NEW YORK — A bill to permit United States tourists to bring home up to $500 worth of Canadian goods will be introduced at the next session of Congress as a means of helping Canada balance her increasing trade deficit with the United States. The Herald Tribune said recently.

Americans now may take $100 worth of duty-free goods across the international bound by the United States. The Herald Tribune said American trade circles believe "prospects are good" for passage of such a bill when Congress meets again, probably early in 1948.

High Prices Reducing Sales Of Women's Apparel

NEW YORK — Retail sales of women's apparel, are suffering a sharp decrease in volume, according to reports received by Lew Hahn, president and general manager of the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

The primary cause for the slump is resistance to high prices, rather than refusal to buy the radical new styles featuring longer skirts, Mr. Hahn asserted in a special bulletin to members.

"Without doubt, more customers are beginning to look for the basement and other lower-price departments," Mr. Hahn declared.

The N.R.D.G.A. had also warned retailers that "the era of fantastic prices will not last forever. When the break comes you are going to take big losses, for you own your goods at the highest prices."

Retailers were advised to minimize their losses by restating price, increases in the markets in which they buy.

WAR BRIDES WANT TO RETURN TO AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, Australia. — Immigration Minister Arthur A. Calwell said, following his recent visit to the United States, that at least 80 per cent. of the 10,000 Australian war brides in the United States want to return to their homeland with their husbands and families.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS

It was announced by the Hon. Douglas Abbott, Minister of Finance, that a second series of Canada Savings Bonds will be placed on sale on October 14th. Mr. Abbott pointed out that this will enable the continuance of the Payroll Savings Plan now in operation in thousands of organizations throughout the country, and will also permit its installation by other companies who recognize its value. The new Canada Savings Bonds will also be available for purchase by the general public, who have found them to be a convenient and profitable investment for personal savings. They will be available for cash or on instalments.

The Minister of Finance described the features of the second series of Canada Savings Bonds, which will be dated November 1st, 1947, and will bear interest at the rate of 2 1/2% each year for ten years. They may be redeemed at any time at any bank in Canada for full face value plus interest, and will be registered in the owner's name—affording protection against loss. Not more than $1,000 of this series may be registered in any one name.

Mr. Abbott said that the offering of this second series has been prompted by the reception given to Canada Savings Bonds since their introduction in October. Purchases have been made by more than 1,200,000 Canadians. The total includes 623,840 employees who used Payroll Savings Plan facilities provided by their employers.

Although the decision to offer a second series is based primarily on demonstrated public demand for these facilities, it was explained by Mr. Abbott that the Government also has in mind the value of widespread holdings of Canada Savings Bonds in the national economy. Present holdings have already rendered more than a million Canadians better able to meet personal emergencies or to carry out personal plans. Such personal resources are regarded as an element of strength and stability in the nation. Arrangements for the sale of this second series will be made by the Bank of Canada, and will be similar to those followed for the first series. It is expected that authorized agents will include investment dealers, and banks and other savings institutions. Enquiry indicates that employers and the executives of labour organizations, who have consistently provided leadership in the development of the Payroll Savings Plan, will join again in ensuring that its benefits continue. It is also apparent that the favorable comment and support of all public information facilities will be maintained. It was pointed out that this support has always been an important factor in the general response to Canada Savings Bonds.

Every appropriate means of informing the public of this new series will be used. Mr. Abbott stated that it is confidently expected that Canadians will again recognize this fine investment opportunity and will make plans to take full advantage of it.

The Crusaders' Cavalcade Comes To Town.

The Church is using modern methods of presenting its life and work. In the Crusaders' Cavalcade, sponsored by the United Church of Canada, there is an exhibition of the programme of this Church displayed in a modern style, but the challenge which faces the people of the world and particularly those of the United Church is dramatically portrayed.

Information about the United Church of Canada is brought home to visitors to this Exhibit on large, well-lit, poster panels, using beautifully coloured transparent pictures, illuminated maps and vivid charts. A great deal of time, talent and money has gone into the preparation of this display.

The Crusaders' Cavalcade will be on display in the BLAIRMORE UNITED CHURCH on Oct. 7th and 8th. This is open to the public at all times. Admission is free. In connection with the display the Cavalcade many meetings are being held with a team of speakers who are leaders in many branches of the United Church of Canada.

The people of Blaimore are being given an opportunity to visit this up-to-the-minute presentation of the United Church of Canada. They will take in the action as it is in the Dominion and Newfoundland, and overseas in eight great areas outside of Canada. This is surely something worth watching.

Editorial on Crusaders' Cavalcade appearing in "The United Church Observer", December 15th, 1946.

ADVENTURING FOR CHRIST

The United Church-Cavalcade has now been on the road for nearly three months. In that time the results have surprised those who originated it and have won the endorsement and support of the skeptical. In those three months thousands of people have visited the exhibit heard the story of the Church by loud speaker, over the air, in public meeting, or in school assembly. These factors alone have contributed to the success of this venture. The first is the soundness of the idea. For the first time the whole work of the Church has been set forth in dramatic form in which the public address system, radio, movies and artistic visual aids have been brought into co-ordinated use. The second factor has been adequate preparation on the field. Prayer in the churches for the success of the undertaking has prepared the people spiritually; advance notices have stirred the imagination of churchgoers and aroused the spirit of anticipation, while organization has secured the co-operation of all elements in the communities to be visited. The third factor is the technique of presentation. During the past three months valuable experience has been gained, early mistakes have been corrected, rough edges smoothed out until now the mobile unit operates with a precision and dispatch that leaves little to be desired. A word of caution is perhaps in order. The Cavalcade has demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that the people of this country are deeply interested in all that the Church stands for and in the work that it is doing both at home and abroad, and yet the purpose of the Cavalcade would be defeated were it to stop here. The Cavalcade is not an end in itself. It is part of the Crusade for Christ and His Kingdom and is designed to lead into the Stewardship phase of the Church's post-war adventure. The real test of this as of any other spiritual movement is the effect it has on the lives of the people and the life of the communities served. Witnessing for Christ has ever been a fundamental and dynamic feature in Christian experience and in spreading the Gospel. In recent years such witnessing has been left almost wholly to the missionaries. Those within the Church family should now be challenged to dedicate themselves to the service of their Master while those outside the organized Church should be presented with a challenge to accept Christ as their Saviour and the Saviour of the world. Of course a challenge may mean a by, or it may mean nothing. The challenge will be more real in proportion as it is made more definite. A challenge to the Christian way of life is a challenge to support its enterprises, generously and unstintingly. To some a challenge to accept Christ is a challenge to a life of service within the Church. The need was never greater. There is an urgent demand for ministers and for recruits for the ministry. Hardly a day passes but we have appeals for men and women to serve the Church. Doctors are needed, agriculturalists, nurses, educationists, girls who will act as nurses' aides and many others. Conscientious people in almost any walk of life can find in the Church an opportunity for full-time service. If after all the sowing and the reaping of the past years, the harvest is to be gathered, it must be reaped by the pastoral charges. No matter how many people may be aroused by a group outside the community, those who can secure redemption of life, increased support of the Church's enterprises, more recruits for the ministry and full-time workers in the Church are the ministers and consociated body in the local congregation. This is their responsibility.

The Crusaders' Cavalcade Exhibit of the United Church of Canada is coming to the Crown's Nest Pass in the converted Army van shown above. Since Blaimore is the most convenient centre for the people of the Pass, the Exhibit will be on display in Blaimore United Church on October 7 and 8. Afternoon and evening meetings will be held with outstanding speakers from across the Dominion and from far across the seas. To see this Exhibit and hear these speakers is a privilege that comes once in a lifetime.

The Crusaders' Cavalcade is currently touring Canada and will travel from coast to coast within the next two years. Much success has met this venture of the church. The Crusaders' Cavalcade is part of the Crusade for Christ and His Kingdom, a post-war endeavor of the United Church of Canada to strengthen the spiritual life of the people of this largest Protestant denomination in Canada. One of the main purposes of the Cavalcade is to challenge young people to full time service in preaching, teaching or healing ministries in the United Church at home and overseas. Many young people have responded to this call, it is said.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S STATEMENT

By REV. J. C. THOMPSON, B. A.

The United Church members of the House of Parliament, Ottawa, entered the House of Commons, October 2, 1947, to hear the Prime Minister's statement.

The Prime Minister was invited to address the group. After a few brilliant sallies and other remarks, he said:

"The Church must play its part in the development of the human society. There are forces at work in the world today, terrifying forces. I feel very strongly on the importance of that relationship and realize fully the great part the different churches play in the development of society in our country. The spirit of the Christian Church is disappearing all too rapidly, and in its place is growing the terrible threat of totalitarianism, and the underlying forces which are giving direction to it. It is the antithesis of the Christian spirit, and instead of the Christian spirit being fostered among the peoples and nations today, there is being fostered the spirit of materialism and selfishness. If we fail to produce Christian communities, then we are ruined. If we cease to be Christians, we are ruined. We are dominated by materialism, we are dominated by selfishness, we are dominated by the spirit of the world. The issue is between a Christian universe and a materialistic universe. There is a Crusade-Cavalcade needed between the nations of the world today. The atmosphere created by materialistic totalitarianism will not make anything but it will be the end of everything. Unless the Christian spirit is to prevail among all nations, there is nothing that can save us. The atomic bomb won't settle anything at all. For from this bomb can mean the end of everything. Unless we have the spirit of brotherhood and that spirit is to be spread among nations, there is nothing to be hoped for in the way of lasting peace. Let us pray that not only in our own hearts and in our own country, but in all countries throughout the world, this Christian spirit will grow, and men will direct their energies to the growth of this spirit."

Miss IDA MACKENZIE, B. R. E.

Miss Mackenzie went from teaching in the Province of New Brunswick to the work of the Woman's Missionary Society. After graduation from the United Church Training School, Toronto, her first years of a missionary's work were among people of many national backgrounds at the Church of All Nations, Montreal, and the All Nations, Vancouver. In 1939 Miss Mackenzie was appointed Field Secretary of the W.M.S. and in that capacity has traveled in all the continents of our Church. It was on her last furlough that she received her degree in Religious Education from the School of Religious Education, Hartford, Connecticut.

Miss Mackenzie is a very effective speaker who is in great demand among W.M.S. workers.

What They Say About The Crusaders' Cavalcade

The Moderator, Rt. Rev. T. W. Jones, M. A., D. D.

"The Cavalcade is the greatest opportunity ever presented to show to the public the claims of the Church in Canada and the opportunities presented through the various departments of the Church."

Rev. W. D. Atchison, Cornwall:

"We were greatly inspired by the Cavalcade and feel that it will make a great contribution to the life of the Church. Our Crusade is still going on and has now reached 217 people who have pledged themselves to the Kingdom of God."

Dr. H. B. Clarke:

"It was the finest thing we have had in Kingston since I have been here."

Rev. James Hallett:

"As far as Owen Sound is concerned it was a great success."

Rev. Walter Gray:

"The Bradford Cavalcade visit is now passed into history. Everyone agreed that it was a grand success."

Rev. John M. Smith, of Simcoe:

"Thanks for the Cavalcade. I believe that the impression on our Presbytery and district was great. The Cavalcade in my estimation will do things for the Church."

Rev. Harold Johnston, of Mitchell:

"It is we who should send the thanks to you people for planning the Cavalcade and sending it through the country. All speakers were good."

Rev. Mervin Bury, of Lincoln Road, Walkerville:

"Our people were delighted and inspired by the entire Programme and Exhibit."

Rev. J. C. Britton, of Thamesville:

"I feel that the whole enterprise of the Cavalcade is one of the most worthwhile things that has been attempted in recent years."

From Kent Presbytery:

"Seldom in the memory of even the veterans of our Church has so much interest in our vast and varied enterprises been aroused, as during the four days the Crusaders' Cavalcade was in Chatham."

Rev. J. Morley Colling, of Chatham:

"The Cavalcade stirred the entire city and has left in the minds of all the religious folk in our city the impression that the United Church of Canada is aware of the critical challenge of these post-war days."

Rev. Eric L. Cawell:

"When the Cavalcade came to Niagara Presbytery none of us knew just what to expect. When the Cavalcade left we all realized that we had seen a vivid exposition of the Church for action. It was a thrilling success."

Rev. R. Douglas Smith, of Hamilton:

"The Cavalcade undoubtedly has been the biggest United Church event here since Union. The United Church has now found church consciousness through the Cavalcade and has realized a oneness of effort and achievement that is quite unique. Every part of the Programme went over the top. It really has been a rich experience."

Rev. Dan D. Gaylor, of Woodstock:

"The team from Toronto gave us great leadership all the way through and we felt it had been a great thing. Its effect will be felt long after the Exhibit has gone from us."

Rev. W. J. Mumford, of Hagersville:

"In my opinion the Cavalcade is a splendid idea. I am confident it accomplished great good in Simcoe County and in the surrounding area."

Rev. Bruce Miller, of St. Thomas:

"The Cavalcade made a far reaching impression upon this whole community. The Church life has been definitely deepened and quickened and my every blessing attend you as you continue with the work."

Rev. H. E. D. Ashford, M. B. E., B. D.

Rev. H. E. D. Ashford, M. B. E., B. D., is a graduate of Mount Allison and Queen's University. He received his B.D. in Union College, Vancouver, and went to India as a Missionary in 1927, where he spent 12 years. During the last war he served as a Chaplain with the rank of Squadron Leader, and was awarded the M. B. E. for his services.

Mr. Ashford was appointed as Field Secretary for Western Canada for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund in 1945 and has been serving the Church in that capacity since that time. He is a forceful speaker and there is a demand for his services wherever he is known.

A corner of the Crusaders' Cavalcade Exhibit which will be displayed in Blaimore United Church on Oct. 7th and 8th, is shown above. This travelling Exhibit has been on display in over fifty cities and towns in Canada during the last year, attracting wide-spread attention. Here, it is illustrated in graphic form by flashlight and beautifully painted panels as well as large photographs and illuminated transparencies, the life and work of the United Church of Canada throughout the Dominion of Newfoundland and in its work overseas in eight Mission Fields. ## An Excellent Example

INCOME LEVELS IN THIS COUNTRY have risen steadily in the past few years and most Canadians have had more money to spend than ever before. This period of prosperity has followed in the wake of the depression of the 1930's and for many people it has been the first time in almost a decade that they could adjust their living standard to an adequate income. This is true of farmers as of other classes of workers. In Western Canada, drought as well as the depression had created an economic disaster which will never be forgotten by the people here. At that time it was impossible for farmers to meet all their financial obligations and many of them were forced to go deeply into debt.

Figures Given For Farm Debt

In 1937 the prairie farm debt, including arrears in mortgages, taxes, relief advances, and money owed to merchants and banks, was estimated at 805 million dollars. This was a very large debt, when considered in relation to the size of the prairie provinces. At that time it was estimated that the amount owed for mortgages and agreements of sale alone was $106,661,000 of which Manitoba owed $29,650,000, Saskatchewan $99,367,000 and Alberta $39,734,000. At the end of 1946, however, this debt had been reduced to $52,035,000, with Manitoba owing $7,470,000, Saskatchewan $33,879,000, and Alberta $10,677,000. These figures, which are given by the Dominion Mortgage and Loans Association, show clearly that the farmers are wisely using the increase in income to reduce their debts and to consolidate their financial position.

Good Times May Not Continue

While figures are available only on the amount by which mortgages have been reduced, it is assumed that the rest of the farm debt has likewise been substantially cleared. In fact, it is considered probable that farmers would pay their accounts to merchants, municipalities and banks before commencing to pay off their mortgages. Although accurate figures are not available, economists are of the opinion that the total farm debt for the prairie provinces may now be less than $270,000,000. In using his increased income to thus reduce his debts and strengthen his financial position the prairie farmer has set an excellent example to the rest of Canada. Perhaps better than anyone else, he realizes that good times do not always last and he also knows that in his case, unfavourable climatic conditions can seriously affect his income. It would be well indeed, if everyone in Canada was using the present period of prosperity to the same advantage as is the western farmer.

WATER IN THE EAR YOU MAY NOT HEAR

If you have acute or chronic ear trouble, be careful where and when you go in the water, say the National Health wardens. Water may get into the middle ear and may allow entrance of infection, which could then spread to the inner ear and the mastoid sinuses.

It is suggested that those with ear trouble consult their family physicians as to the advisability of taking part in aquatic sports.

Australia Seeks More Exports To Canada-U.S.

To Help Government Bridge A Forty-Five Million Dollar Trade Deficit

CANBERRA.—A drive to increase Australia's exports to North America will be launched by the government to help bridge a trade deficit of some $45 million remaining after the cut in imports from North America ordered in this fiscal year.

John Dedman, minister for post-war reconstruction said Australia's position would be improved if an outlet could be found in the U.S. or Canada for the sale of manufactured articles not previously exported.

Apart from this action another high source said the government might have to apply further dollar import cuts later, beyond the $40 million reduction in American imports ordered by the Cabinet.

Premier Chifley was reported to have warned ministers there was no guarantee these cuts would be the last restrictions.

Woman Starts Trap-Nest Flock

MEETING CREEK, Alta. — Miss Ruth Kasa has started to trap-nest her flock of purebred barred rock pullets. She entered the poultry business only two years ago and already has attracted the attention of the Dominion department of agriculture for the high standard of hatching eggs her breeding stock has been producing. The poultry branch has asked Miss Kasa to trap-nest 125 pullets in line with its policy to promote the raising of pedigreed stock in Alberta.

BLESSING OF WORK

Charles Kingsley once wrote: "Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do; that which must be done whether you like it or not."

GENEROUS—Miss Dorothy Murray, head of the welfare department of Norwalk, Conn., who, an investigating committee claims, is an "amateur," thereby costing the city $222,289 in relief last year. Anyone whose name is in the Norwalk city directory, the committee reports, could walk into the welfare department, tell a sad story and leave with cash. The report cited several instances: one "unemployable" received so much relief he was able to buy a $6,800 house; another was helped to a purchase of a new car; and relief—with no questions asked—was doled out as much as $140 a week.

These cattle are all the descendants of the famous Karama 2nd of Glencairn.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

He: "I must apologize for my dancing. I'm a little stiff from bedminton."

She: "My dear man, I don't care where you came from."

"Women certainly haven't any consistency."

"What's the matter now?"

"My wife chased me out of the house with the broom this morning and then cried because I left home without kissing her good-bye."

She: "Did anyone ever tell you how wonderful you are?"

He: "No, I don't think anyone ever did."

She: "Then I'd like to know where you got the idea?"

He: "I don't know."

"Did my medicine do any good?"

"A wonderful remedy, doctor. I took three spoonfuls and my cough went. I rubbed three spoonfuls into my knees for rheumatism, and the rest we used to clean the silver."

Film Director: "Don't forget now. You look around, discover that someone is chasing you and then dive off this 200-foot cliff."

Stunt Man: "But there's only two feet of water at the bottom!"

Director: "Certainly. Do you think we want you to drown?"

"I say, my dear," said an ex-soldier the morning after the regimental reunion, "I seem to have got an enormous blister on my tongue."

"What do you expect?" replied his wife. "You would insist on drinking my health out of your hotwater bottle last night."

"I don't like the looks of that halibut," said the lady customer.

"Lady, if it's looks you're after, why not buy gold fish?" asked the market man.

She was a good-looking blonde, and when her tire went flat she halted a passing motorist. He stopped.

"Wonder if you'd help a girl in trouble?" she inquired.

He said, "Sure, Sister, what kind of trouble do you want to get into?"

The new vicar had preached his first sermon, and a critical member of the church, an exceedingly fat man, laylaid him after the service.

"Not a bad beginning, sir," he said, patronizingly, "a bit too scientific and modern perhaps, but quite fair. Remember, parson, you must feed the sheep."

The vicar surveyed his bulky critic and replied, "My dear man, it's exercise you need, not food."

Jim: "What was the cause of the collision at that corner today?"

Tom: "Two motorists after the same pedestrian."

A motorist was driving through a busy town, when suddenly a dustcart ahead of him turned down a sidestreel without warning.

Narrowly escaping a collision, the angry motorist shouted, "Why the dickens didn't you hold out your hand to show you were going to turn?"

"Don't talk so daft," replied the dustman. "I always go down this street!"

Canada's Tourist Resources Are Barely Scratched

FORT WILLIAM.—Canada's possibilities as a tourist-attracting country have barely been scratched and now is the time to lay the foundations for future developments, J. G. Perdue of Ottawa said in an interview here.

Mr. Perdue, member of the National Parks Board Division of the Mines and Resources Department who is attending the second annual convention of the parks and recreation Association of Canada here, said that the 1,000,000 visitors already tallied at the Dominion's National Parks is expected to establish a new high in the tourist trade.

Exploitation of the nation's vast potentialities in the travel industry will hinge on good roads and low-priced family accommodations within the reach of the average working man's pocket book, Mr. Perdue said.

HOW TO WIN BLONDES AND INFLUENCE BRUNETTES—Give a movie publicity man a free hand—and what transpires is often as good as a movie itself. When the film "The Magic Bow", an English production, was distributed in Canada, it was a golden opportunity for the advertising boys. They had a violinist in costume stroll up and down the street in front of the theatre at which the film was showing. With Bud Wyszniolsky at the violinist, the stunt was a great success. (For Bud particularly, as every passing blonde, brunette and red-head threw admiring glances his way.)

GEMS OF THOUGHT

CHARITY

The man who confers a kindness should be silent concerning it; he who receives it should proclaim it—Seneca.

He gives not best who gives most; but he gives most who gives best—Warwick.

That charity is bad which takes from independence its proper pride, and from mendacity its proper shame—Southey.

"Charity suffereth long and is kind," but wisdom must govern charity, else love's labor is lost and giving is unkind—Mary Baker Eddy.

The charities that soothe, and heal, and bless, lie scattered at the feet of men like flowers—Wordsworth.

Give work rather than alms to the poor. The former drives out indolence, the latter industry—Tryon Edwards.

"Friendly Dog" Turns Out To Be Wolf

COPENHAGEN.—A "dog" arrived recently at the customs office in a crate without an address. Customs officials fed and watered him, tied a string around his neck and walked him in the hall. It was a fine friendly animal, and they would have liked to keep him. But two men from the Copenhagen Zoo arrived and said they would like to have the wolf they were expecting.

Speed Habit Causes Plenty Of Worry

Even the layman knows that worry has an evil effect on his entire nervous system, issuing often in disease. The speed habit, the tendency to do everything at top clip in an unrelenting haste, for which there is often no reason whatever, and which ends in doing less in the long run than a more quiet method, is one of the causes. The "perpetual dispatch" to exceed the speed which their chassis will permit without rattling to pieces." Being in a hurry for heaven knows what.

LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Dr. I. Habinowitch, noted bio-chemist who is director of the Institute for Special Research and Cell Metabolism in the Montreal General Hospital, and associate professor of medicine, McGill University, was one of the speakers at the nutrition session during the League's annual meeting in Montreal recently. He said he would like to see certain rules in cook books, and outlined the following "Do's and Don'ts" for housewives.

When buying apples, get small ones; the vitamins are concentrated just below the skin, and one pound of small apples contains more of the vitamins than a pound of large apples.

When purchasing leafy vegetables, select the thin leaf—pound for pound it contains more vitamins than the thick leaf.

Whenever possible buy only the day's needs—between gathering and serving, fresh vegetables lose as much as 50 per cent of their vitamin value.

Handle leafy vegetables carefully, because bruising of the leaves causes loss in vitamin value.

Dried green peas increase in vitamin value with the length of time they are soaked. If soaked for three or four days they have a higher vitamin content than even grapefruit.

Do not use baking soda to preserve the fresh green color of vegetables. The nutritional value is not in the color, and the ordinary heating with baking soda destroys vitamin C completely.

Potatoes boiled in their jackets are more nutritious than the peeled variety. Scrapping potatoes wastes five per cent, peeling them wastes 20 per cent of the vitamin values.

Do not put vegetables in boiling water all at once. Shred them and put into the water a little at a time, without letting the water go off the boil.

Olive oil differs from vegetable oils from other sources in flavor only. It is in no way superior from a nutritional point of view.

Think in terms of the satisfying value of foods. Hunger may at times merely be due to an empty stomach and not be insufficient calories. Foods that remain longest in the stomach have the most satisfying value—bread and butter, bread and gravy, or hard boiled eggs.

SOME DISCOVERIES ABOUT COMMON COLD

After two years' intensive research, doctors have announced the following discoveries about the common cold: Women catch them more easily than men.

Between the ages of 20 and 29 is the most vulnerable period.

One thing about colds the doctors failed to discover—how to cure them!

Children Will Learn Arithmetic By Blocks

PHILADELPHIA.—Philadelphia's school children are getting their arithmetic these days with the help of blocks, acorns and bundles of sticks.

A new series of courses adopted for the first six grades of the city's public schools will enable pupils to obtain a more graphic impression of the use of numbers, officials say.

Even the children's lunch period will have a "number emphasis" with raisins, milk bottles and other food items replacing the classroom blocks.

According to an old custom, submarines never cross the equator but always dive under it.

British Columbia May Soon Have Lobster Industry

VANCOUVER.—Indication that British Columbia soon may have a lobster industry was shown recently in reports that the shell fish are thriving and reproducing in Northern Pacific coast waters.

The lobsters, which were imported from the Atlantic more than a year ago, are thriving and producing eggs near Lasquiti Island where the original hatch was planted by the B.C. Packers.

If the young multiply successfully from now on, it will mean a new large-scale industry for British Columbia, an official declared.

The House of Romanoff ruled Russia from 1613 to 1917.

MRS. J. B. WILSON DIES AT VANCOUVER

News has reached the city of the death in Vancouver on Saturday last of Mrs. Georgia Becher Wilson, formerly of Blairmore. Death followed a long illness caused by a heart ailment.

The late Mrs. Wilson was a long-time resident of Macleod and the Crows' Nest Pass. She came to Macleod as a child with her parents when Mr. Becher was transferred to that town to manage the Hudson's Bay Co. store. She married Mr. Wilson who was a member of the Royal Bank staff and went with him to reside at Blairmore when he became manager of the branch there. In the spring of 1946 Mr. Wilson retired on pension and moved to Vancouver where the family has since been residing.

FASHION NOTE FROM BRITAIN: NEW BONNETS

A bonnet such as will be worn by many young women in Britain during the forthcoming winter, was displayed at a show of United Kingdom creative fashions, held recently in the ballroom of a London hotel. Resembling the bonnets worn in the early 18th century, this item of headwear was of nigger brown velvet adorned with velvet ribbons, and finished with a large bow at the side.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Offhand you might say that there is no connection between having a hobby and being successful in your work.

But all of us need the relaxing effect of a hobby to counter-balance the strain of hard work.

"Fun is a tonic," says Dr. G. S. Stevenson, eminent mental hygiene authority. "It refreshes us when we are tired or bored with our routine tasks—gives us new strength and enthusiasm for the business of living."

If you have no particular hobby, such as fishing, gardening or photography, you will be well advised to choose one. Or if you indulge in a hobby only rarely, you ought to devote time to it more regularly.

As a result, you'll be happier and probably healthier. And you'll surely do a better job!

P.S. An acquaintance of mine made wooden trays as a hobby. They were so handsome that many of his friends wanted to buy them and soon he had a flourishing full-time business. Such cases are not uncommon.

You'll enjoy life even more with the peace of mind that life insurance brings. It has provided for the future security of millions of Canadians since 1847.
